An e-mail solution for today's demanding business environment

At Fictional Solutions Corporation, we know that many businesses struggle with the growing challenges of online communications. Mobile workers expect to connect from anywhere, and access e-mail, voicemail, calendar and faxes. IT tries to protect vital e-mail from spam and viruses, while government regulations mandate security and retention.

We can help you handle these challenges by upgrading your business to Microsoft® Exchange Server 2007 on HP servers and storage. As a 64-bit application, Exchange Server 2007 offers enhanced scalability and performance over earlier versions. HP ProLiant DL320s Servers and HP BladeSystems combine powerful 64-bit performance with simplified deployment and management.

Using Exchange Server 2007 with HP servers and storage helps you manage the challenges of today's communication environment.

- Anywhere access capabilities – Mobile workers can be more productive from virtually anywhere, accessing e-mail, voicemail, calendars and faxes through a single Inbox. Administrators can even access and manage the e-mail server remotely.
- Built-in protection technologies – Antivirus and anti-spam technologies are built in. HP ProLiant and BladeSystem servers provide redundant and hot-plug components for continuous operations. New compliance tools in Exchange Server 2007 simplify the process of meeting internal and regulatory requirements. Protect critical e-mail with integrated data protection in the HP StorageWorks storage.
- More efficient and cost-effective deployment – Simplify the administration and maximize the return on your hardware and network investment with native 64-bit support and cost-effective servers and storage from HP. Integrated management and remote operations raise operational efficiency to a whole new level.
